ONGOING PARTNERSHIPS

Centro Académico de Medicina de Lisboa: IMM is associated with the Faculdade de Medicina da Universidade de Lisboa and with the Santa Maria teaching hospital through the Lisbon Academic Medical Centre of Lisbon (CAML). CAML is a newly formed consortium that aims at promoting the academic dimension in clinical practice, renewing the teaching hospital concept.

IMM is also a partner of the Harvard Medical School – Portugal programme, sponsored by the Portuguese Fundação para a Ciência e a Tecnologia. This programme aims at promoting translational and clinical research and the dissemination of medical and health information.

IMM and Inserm, aware of the need to develop international cooperation in the fields of life sciences, health research and health care, assigned an agreement in 2010 to establish a partnership which builds on sound research expertise of both institutions to deliver scientific international workshops, short-term staff exchanges and research mentoring for MD students.

IMM fosters scientific ideas to turn into products and technologies that make difference in health care. Presently, there are three companies incubated at IMM: Genomed and Technophage (see Companies).

IMM is one of the leading founders of the Health Cluster Portugal, a consortium that promotes initiatives to increase the national competitiveness, innovation and technology in health care.

ADVANCED TRAINING

PhD STUDENTS AT IMM

In the summer of 2010 we launched the Lisbon Academic Medical Centre Doctoral Programme, a joint PhD Programme between IMM, Faculdade de Medicina da Universidade de Lisboa (FMUL) and the Santa Maria University Hospital (HSM-CHLN). This programme was inspired by the IMM practices, the goal being to have a programme focused on the excellence of the research proposals, which features a flexible and modular training component. The three partner institutions, FMUL, IMM and HSM-CHLN, actively participated in the design of the CAML PhD Program, using the existing resources and synergies to create an attractive and stimulating environment for doctors and researchers to develop their doctoral thesis.

3. "Online Scientists": an IMM initiative during the Portuguese Science and Technology Week aiming to promote the interaction between scientists and the general public using the social networks.
November, 2010

Promoting an informed discussion on health and biomedical research issues is a priority for the IMM. This has been achieved through the engagement of researchers and non-scientific partners in the IMM's Outreach programme. The programme includes training for younger generations, an Annual School Visits scheme (which in 2010 benefited more than 385 students from all levels of schooling), using web 2.0 (social networks) to promote dialogue and specific outreach projects, such as the Workshop "Science, Politics and the Media" or the hosting of the artistic residencies of Herwig Turk and Maria Manuela Lopes.

A major effort is also placed in regular collaboration with the media, in particular in the promotion of dialogue and opinion making in health and biomedicine, as well in highlighting the research developed by IMM teams. A proactive attitude towards the media includes regular production of press releases and articles, support to press conferences and media visits at IMM, contact management and media training for researchers.
